Prince Otto of Austria Talks on World Affairs

Brings First-Hand Information to Lyceum Audience.

In exactly what one imagines as the royal manner, Prince Otto, president of the ancient House of Hapsburg, gave an interesting and informative lecture on world affairs, Monday, Nov. 10, at St. Paul's Parish Church, the former meeting place of the Wartburg Lyceum series.

Prince Otto gave a very vivid description of the German people against the invasion which brought their country into the present war against their former ally Germany. He pointed out that his people had no choice but surrender when Hitler's superior forces marched in.

First March a Bluff

The actual military conference was reviewed and cited as the real beginning of the conflict. He quoted the drastic statement made by Neville Chamberlain at that time concerning the temporary separation in which Neville Chamberlain was instrumental. "They had no choice between disaster and war. They have chosen disaster and we will get the war." Everyone knows it very well that was. The first move was described as Hitler's greatest bluff, since during that march his soldiers carried orders to immediately start making any resistance. When they met no resistance at first, a run of offenses was launched such as the world has never seen.

It is often thought in America that Hitler's power over the German people is very unduly great. In this case, according to the speaker, Hitler's power lies in what he has done for Germany; their chance for world domination, and also some proof of punishment.

For Germany to go into England or unoccupied France for any reason of one's own is to turn traitor in our estimation.

Hitler's War of Power

As a solution for the age-old war problem in Europe, the prince proposed some kind of mutual defense in Central Europe, which would be so strong that no one nation would dare start trouble.

He did not suggest the forcing together of unlike peoples into one country.

He suggested rather making a sort of Federation of small countries. The states in Central Europe occupied by German troops are quite rebellious and it is doubtful whether they will long be under control. Even if they were to stay now and again they were to be given partial freedom, it would not be possible for them to combine as a Germany colony, since there are not enough differences between Germany and Hitler. Reckonment would always run high. A division of Germany would be the best for two reasons, one that she has always produced great thinkers, scientists, etc., very beneficial to the world, and secondly, if this were to happen, it would only be a matter of time before a revolutionary war would rage again.

KLEIN TO GO TO PEACE CONTEST

Eunice Klein, sophomore from Muscatine, won Beta Lambda Lambda's "Peace" oratorical elimination contest held in co-operation with Thursday night with her oration "The Peace House."

According to the judges, Miss Klein was chosen to represent Wartburg at the state Peace Oratorical competition because of her superior dramatic appeal both of her oration and of her delivery. The state contest will be held at Sioux City, Dec. 5.

The other contestants were Harry Stief, LeMars, Iowa, and Vernon Strempke, Jesup, Iowa.

Stief's oration was entitled "Patriotism," Strempke's "Mindful of Peace."

The judges were Dr. Haefner,

Dean Neumann and Prof. Tornquist.

REGENTS CHOOSE COMMITTEE FOR GENERAL PLANS

Members of a steering committee for the Greater Wartburg program will also plan the diamond jubilee celebration of the college in 1943 were named by the college's regents in session Tuesday evening.

The Rev. G. Kreis, of Davenport, the Rev. Fred Fritschel of New Hampton, and Prof. A. W. Swensen of Waverly were named.

The group will investigate needs for new buildings and other improvements on the campus and the methods and possibilities of obtaining them.

The men are to initiate a long-range program of improvement, much like the program section of Warburton as the permanent site for Warburton as the American Lutheran church's western senior college.

The board discussed the problem to enlarge the social studies department to offer a social service major for students in that field. President C. A. Neumann recommended a special committee, along with Dr. S. Schmidt, director of the new wartime division of the state of Minnesota, and Norman Finch of Toledo, Ohio, executive secretary of the Office of Education.

A recommendation was forwarded to the board of Christian higher education that the board of regents be enlarged to nine by the addition of one pastor and one layman.

The regents approved a recommendation of the faculty committee that there be no summer session in 1942.

The possibility of having a "practice house" plan for the home economics department was discussed.

The regents gave approval to Dr. E. Haefer of the Greek department to read a paper before the meeting of the National Association of Secondary School Principals in New York City Dec. 29 to 31.

Approval was also given to Dr. E. W. Hartel of the physics department to present a paper at the meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science in Dallas, Tex., during Christmas vacation.

Dr. Wm. Solt of Columbus, Ga., stewardship secretary of the church, and Prof. C. H. Greenberg, of the board of Christian higher education, met with the regents

AIDS IN DRUNK DRIVING TESTS

Prof. A. W. Swensen, head of Wartburg's chemistry department and a member of the committee on tests for intoxication of the National Safety Council, was invited this weekend by Harold Anderson, chief of police of Waverly, to speak together with the Missouri Highway patrol to take part in a series of actual tests of intoxication in which men got drunk deliberately, so that their reactions and physical condition could be studied by experts.

Prof. Swensen attended this examination with Chief C. A. Kneet of the Iowa Highway patrol on Friday, Mar. 6, and Saturday, Nov. 11 and 12.

This was the most pretentious venture along the line of medical examination ever to be carried out.

Thirty men were given varying amounts of liquor and then allowed to drive automobiles on different kinds of roads.

The tests measured the correlation of degradation of a person's mental ability and the percentage of ethyl alcohol in the blood vessels.

Representatives of the Army were present to determine the loss of mental acumen on defense projects. Representatives from the P. D. L. were also present.

As some indication of the magnitude and importance of the tests, 100,000 persons are expected to view the news, Fox movie, Life magazine, photographers, and other newsmen and photographers.

"Most Ambitious Ever Undertaken," Says Shakhauser.

"The 1942 spring concert tour will be the most ambitious ever undertaken by the Wartburg choir," he said. "The members are off to a good start with the return of Rev. C. G. Shakhauser on his return from the east with tentative plans calling for the itinerary of his entire tour completed."

Shakhauser points out that the concert stops on the tour itself are as yet only tentative, but the pre-tour and post-tour concert have definitely been arranged.

Following is the tentative itinerary for the 1942 spring tour:

Friday, Feb. 27, Manchester, Ia.; Sunday, Mar. 1, Cedar Rapids, Ia.; Sunday, Mar. 1, Muscatine, Ia.; Monday, Mar. 2, Peoria, Ill.; Tuesday, Mar. 3, Endicott, Ia.; Wednesday, Mar. 4, Indianapolis, Ind.

the editor's desk

In my estimation, those convocations in which students take up their seats in the same seats as their parents, or grandparents, concerning the social life at Wartburg have been the main topics thus far. It is interesting to note how many of the discussions on an active basis in the editor's desk look forward to the convocation. I think the students are more interested in the question among themselves. It is truly a program which should give the students more responsibility in their lives. The young people are making them feel that they are an integral part in the student government here at Wartburg. The members of credit should go to the student council and then chairman, Vernon L. Strempe. They are doing a great deal of extra work to make this school year live up and more interesting for every student.

I guess Larry Sanger has a real talent for writing. In his first article at this time, New don't get me wrong, Larry just started a little discussion and secondary class. I think he did a good job and feel that we should take the time in class to discuss the matter. Well, Dean Fritz, again, the editor's desk is open to you and bring a couple of cigars along and they would have a nice little chat. Very nice, indeed. Dean Fritz!!!

Dear Dave:

How is the world and everybody else? How are these days?

Told to hear that you are spending a lot of time on your lab courses this year. I've heard people talking about it and I am very interested in it. And since I know that you are taking a devoted interest in them, keep up the good work. Don't forget to get a working exercise at least four times a week. It keeps you in the pink of condition, and besides . . .

Yours, ever, etc.,

Dorothy Grover told me that she would attempt an assassination on her husband, John, if he came in the Trumpet this time! I just want to see if she will make good her threat.

We see by the Luther college paper, "College Chip," that they have taken notice of the Knight Riders. They are a group of German students who are quite popular. This edition is unusually quiet when it comes to what Wartburg will be up to. No hob-nobbing with the conge big boys next year!

Hans Sandrock is quite happy today. Out of $125 dollars for which his name was called, Waverly last night, he received exactly 1-3 of the total. Owing to the fact that he was sufficiently poor, he was given a sum of money to deprive him of the total amount. Be sure and don't spend it all in one place, Hans!

I close, wishing that the nice weather of last week would hold out for a while yet, and give our dear Grossenbach a chance to get reacquainted. He just loves to sit in the open air and talk with—well, uh, just anyone!

KIND LADY

Rehearsals Proceed
Despite Obstacles

Rehearsals for "Kind Lady," the second production of the Wartburg Players for the current season, are going ahead in spite of sickness and can't blame Little Hartland for that. The show must go on, and we must be back to school next week with her lines learned. LaVonne Stripling's car has been broken down, so we are unable to present her getting home from her teaching in time for several rehearsals.

The other actors in this drama are preparing for their first appearance before the footlights of the Wartburg Auditorium. They are Harry Stief, Marvin Grunke, and Bertrand Petrich.

"Kind Lady" was produced for the first time inago at the University in New York City, and is rated by the National Association of Community Theaters as one of the five most popular plays of the last three years.

"Morituri Salutamus."

Organizations

Pi Sigma

Pi Sigma held their November meeting in Wartburg hall on Friday evening. President Beckford opened the group as collector and the names of the children of the Home Arrangements of the "little sister" project were presented.

The Ministerial dress show in Waverly, gave an interesting display of style in dress for the college girls. Linonette Beckford, Mrs. Beckford and Ruth Miller, Mrs. Ruth Miller, were models.

Hobbies for the evening were, Louis Grossman, Charles Wolf and Esther Weiss.

Pi Sigma members had their first invitational party of the year Saturday evening.

The feature of the evening was a scavenger hunt. Committees were entertainment, Emma Klein, Werner Wagner, Walter Koenig, Leopold Steppke, and Ruth Miller. Refreshments, Mary Wagner, Joyce Martens, Dorothy Bunge, Margaret Ide, Mary Senni and Elsie Schick.

Student Senate

The Student Senate, continuing its regular session Wednesday, Oct. 22, passed a resolution asking that the Friday following Thanksgiving be placed on next year's calendar as a holiday.

Congress to the strong movement among the students this year to substitute the day after Thanksgiving for the spring vacation, the student senate felt that it was carrying out the wishes of the student body in making its request for a longer vacation.

In a report on plans for the next roller-skating party, the student body president stated that difficulties had arisen in regard to a date for the party and asked for transportation facilities. Mr. Strempe was asked by the senate to continue his negotiations.

President Senni reported the fact that the student council for the fall from the dining club to organize for meals missed by members during inter-collegiate competition was reported to have been defeated.

With a request to the faculty student council that the weekly end evening hours of the coats be extended from 11:00 p.m. to 11:30, the senate adjourned.

Pi Sigma Parties

The Hans Dein Verbinden sang German songs, played German games and listened to German stories at their regular meeting in the Cedar Valley Auditorium Saturday afternoon, Nov. 9.

Arnold Wuerz gave several humorous German readings, and Gerhard Brause led the group in singing some German songs.

The business of the meeting was conducted in German and was presided over by President Senni. Several speakers, present projects for the year were discussed, but the definite action was taken. The fact that the conversational was suspended to allow the German students to disconcerting to the guests and new members; but there was a good deal of translating for their benefit. The Hans were served to close the meeting.

New members accepted at this meeting were Jim Loeschen, Lars Hendriksen, Gottfried Hoffmann, and Bob Wiederaenders.

Drama Club

On Friday evening, Nov. 7, Wartburg's freshman and sophomore debaters participated in the Cedar Valley debate tournament at Iowa State Teachers College, where winners were Emma Klein, Elsie Schick, Helen Rice, George Reineke, and Albert Martin. Prof. Donald Beckford, debate coach, accompanied them.

The negative team composed of Miss Rice and Mr. Martin contributed the low victory to the day for Wartburg.

The national debate topic for this year is: "Resolved that the federal government should regulate by law all labor unions in the United States."

In extemporaneous speaking Emma Klein presented a woman's viewpoint on conservatism. She spoke fifth.

Hes Club

At the second meeting of the Hes Club several activities for the winter season were discussed. The members decided to sponsor a football game against the University in New York City, and is rated by the National Association of Community Theaters as one of the five most popular plays of the last three years.

HOBNOBBING

BY HANNAH

Note.—Views expressed in this column are not necessarily those of the Wartburg Trumpet.

It is agreed that in the last week we've had a few warm days, the best being Thursday. But since Monday and Tuesday are not as warm as Saturday and Sunday, Hanna must encourage the general shedding of long nose neckties, hair and eyebrows in favor of shorter ones.

Maybe you are through teaching but do you want to catch rheumatism?

By the way, Prof. Svensen has another problem. He must either go without a hat or without the five-spot for a new hat since the enthusiastic Imperial Hat Company has sent him a new one.

The feature of the evening was a scavenger hunt. Committees were entertainment, Emma Klein, Werner Wagner, Walter Koenig, Leopold Steppke, and Ruth Miller. Refreshments, Mary Wagner, Joyce Martens, Dorothy Bunge, Margaret Ide, Mary Senni and Elsie Schick.

During the evening the Emporium was having a fishin' hole hunt. No results though. Some grous. He is probably a hemophile, anyway.

Hannah has a hankering that Berrie May "feels" pretty good on the lovely evenings last week—and when someone Sang "Lilting" madly.

And, Emma "feels" pretty good too when Shalshaker announced the class which she is in certain towns. And when coming from Mendonish, "You're the Son!" she exclaimed, "With pleasure!"

James Born-to-build-the-women, McIver's striped guy nine times and still would stand even if he were to be a centaur.

And, Dorothy, you're probably getting into the swing of things. Warning to all whose feelings are easily hurt and whose ears become red at the mention of the unmentionable—brave confidences are worthy of an audience.

Although we have it on good authority that George isn't a girl, he too is blushing since Thursday's conv. He seems to be getting used to the idea of being a man. And, Ozzie, you're probably not the only one who thinks that he is a hundred percent a man.

Well, George dashed off the other morning without his trousers! This is probably the last time he'll be seen in them. And, Spurlock, which concert member so he never gave up to say a word again isn't he. His only consolation lies in the fact that it was his EXTRA pair that he had forgotten to send to the cleaners.

And, Ozzy, the women have been getting more. They are living up to expectations. But perhaps you don't realize how hard it is for them to appear "dumb" when I.Q.'s are really high in your class.

HUNTING SEASON OPENED by Pi Sigma official Saturday morning with the biggest deer ever taken with a gun. Fred Mueller, Roy Beckford, and Fred Beckford, who helped Fred Mueller. Roy was still promising but there still some scavengees loose. Hunting was open season hunting.

And Hannah continues to hunt for hash.

Oscar Burkhard, chairman of the German department of the University of Minnesota, sees no indication of the "anything-German" feeling of World War days.

Party for the numbers and seconds. A lively discussion on the possibilities of the Home Economics department obtaining a practice house was held, and it is the desire of all members to have this dream come true.

Future Teachers

Wartburg's Future Teachers' Faculty head talks and discusses the topic "Democracy and our school system" at their monthly meeting, Nov. 21.

After leading the short business meeting, Anna Leopoldsky, president, spoke on "Teaching democracy in our school system."

Dorothy Krueger then discussed the top topic "Democracy and our school system." Before Reither then spoke on "using the democratic system in our class room procedure." Another talk was given by Dorothy Krueger on "Democracy in the administration in which pupils and instructors work cooperatively."

Following the various reports, a discussion was held on the subject of applying the democratic procedures and the necessity of it in our present day school.

Surprise Attack Repulsed By Grossmann Hall Patrols

General Behrens Leads Troops on Southern Front.

Foreign Correspondent, Alonzo Schunk:

With the Knight army on the move (CP) and the Grossmann mighty arm was accomplished in lightning fashion last Monday night to come the aid of comrades in action. When an urgent call came from the Southern quarters with a report of undercover stragglers, Commander-in-chief J. F. Behrens displayed his great military tact by firmly mustering his troops to stop the offensive attack of enemy invaders. Patrols were sent out, but the invaders struck, and were repelled in such a way so that nothing could be accomplished by military strategy.

Brave Effort Unexpected

Officers and privates in military quarters were busy studying, talking or planning maneuvers when the invasion broke. At about ten o'clock last night, General Behrens left the fort to check actions in the areas between Frank's and the camp. All divisional patrols had been sent out, composed of privates O. Seuff and G. Helmamp. An immediate search revealed that an enemy "deep" camp had penetrated the two Wartburg fighters. Although the two fought valiantly, they were hopelessly outnumbered and were forced to retreat after a brief skirmish. During their retreat, the enemy invaders obtained a more sure foothold and advanced to the fort where they had a solid hold. Gen. Behrens issued orders that all members of the Grossmann division rally to the colors. The response followed with amazing speed. A force of fifteen hundred all had reported and troops marched in the general direction of the invaders, the nearest patrols were sent ahead, but Knight divisions were unable to capture the attackers.

various phases of the work of our New Guinea Mission.

The Pre-Trip school called a special meeting for 2 p. m. on Saturday, November 14, at the Tabernacle or "At the Tab." Rev. Dr. Taeuber preached on the cosmopolitan character of mission work; its cross-cultural implications, and eventual consummation, implying the importance of bringing Christ to all creatures regardless of race. His sermon centered around the work of our New Guinea field.

In the informal discussion that followed, Rev. Taeuber spoke on the various phases of the work of the mission, planned for the future. The most vital factor he pointed out, is the need of perfect health. Other topics discussed were knowledge of medicine, foreign languages, and anthropology. In closing he revealed the uncertainty concerning the fate of our foreign missionaries in view of the world situation.

At 4 p. m. the Prayer-fellowship heard Rev. Taeuber tell of the need for lay-workers in the mission. He said, "The needs for this kind of work are much the same as for regular missionaries. There is an opening for nurses, secretaries, and teachers, especially at this time, but the war makes it extremely difficult to get into the mission," said Rev. Taeuber.

On Sunday evening, Rev. Taeuber talked to the Little League about his experiences in New Guinea when he visited the island in 1929. A discussion followed in which many questions on the church's mission work were answered.

The boys from the south end of town who were captured in the gun battle was just O. K. But how do I know. I didn't have any either.

From what I hear, a lot of the students are going home on Thanksgiving day. Some to eat, some to sleep, but one reason we know, is because it's the vacation. I am wondering for whom it will be this time. You'll know who I mean when you see it, follows.

Don't eat too much turkey. Incidentally, someone asked us what our calls bring in. We say $100 gold. I hope we weren't too wrong. As ever, I remain faithfully yours,

LIVING FOR JESUS

"Let me come before his presence with Thanksgiving, and make a joyful noise unto him with Psalms:—Psalms 95:2.

True no season lends itself so appropriately to a time of Thanksgiving as the month of November. The earth has given the increases, and the reapers have harvested the fruits. What a time for rejoicing and thanksgiving! But the world is not perfect. Evil still abounds. God's people have given us the gift of peace and freedom, and we are grateful for that. But we are still here, and we are still in the world. Let us not let go of the gift of peace and freedom, and let us not let go of the gift of salvation. Gratitude should we have for the gift of life, and for the gift of health. Let us not let go of the gift of health and healing. Let us not let go of the gift of love and compassion. Let us not let go of the gift of joy and happiness. Let us not let go of the gift of salvation.

However, let us momentarily pause and attempt to count our innumerable blessings one by one. We have a home, we have food. Especially should we be thankful for the gift of peace and freedom granted to so large a part of the world. Gratitude should we have for the gift of health and healing. Let us not let go of the gift of health and healing. Let us not let go of the gift of love and compassion. Let us not let go of the gift of joy and happiness. Let us not let go of the gift of salvation.

Why not complete quietude by making the front door a silent witness and around it and hanging it high on the walls of a heavenly Jerusalem with the cord of constant prayer. In so doing we shall surely make a realization of Thanksgiving unto God.—Karl Landreth.

THE MONEY YOU'VE EARNED

Today...

If you're average and human, there's a hole in your pocket. Through it, day by day, slip pennies, nickels, quarters — money spent for odds. You rarely have anything to show for it and you never know where it goes.

At the time, you never miss it. Yet, as time goes on, comes the disquieting thought: "I have earned in all, a miserable sum — enough for the start of a backlog against those inevitable leaner years — yet where is my money gone?"

The simplest, easiest way to stop these "leaks" and to guarantee your family all you intended to save is from future earnings is through adequate life insurance. Your local LUTHERAN MUTUAL agent will cheerfully submit a program designed to solve your problem of financial security and independence. Pastors, American Legion Provide Convo Programs

Students Hold Two Discussions; Movie Series Continues.

MONDAY, Nov. 10

Dr. Hillmer opened the convocation periods on Monday morning with a talk based on the general topic of "Love". Dr. Hillmer said: "A man is at his wits' end if he thinks too much of himself, and not of his fellowmen". He explained the personality of an individual in terms of his ways in love to Christ. He closed his talk saying, "The key-note of Christ is love."

TUESDAY, Nov. 11

A special convocation was held because of Armistice Day. The program was opened by Richard Bunge singing, "God Bless America".

Mr. Offringa, member of the Waverly American Legion was the speaker. He reminded us that it is always better to be a part of something than to be a part of nothing. "However," he said, "there are reservations." He stressed the value of American citizenship, pointing out the fact that its value could never be estimated in dollars and cents. He said, "A citizen's worth is far greater than our being able to live in America". His closing statement was, "Love God above all and your neighbor as thyself. When these two commandments we will have perfect peace."

WEDNESDAY, Nov. 12

Rev. M. A. Adix, a minister from Iowa, spoke on the perspective we as Wartburgers should have. No goal should be too high, but we should strive not to lose the privilege of God's grace near us always. Rev. Adix stated, "It is our privilege to rejoice that we have Christ as a Savior, and we have the spiritual college. Restraints that we as Christians have lead us to happiness". His closing words were, "We are together here as a group of Christians; that we have the privilege of learning, of attending a college, of learning great truths that we have Christ."

THURSDAY, Nov. 13

LaVerne Kample took charge of this student convocation in a talk about the past Wartburg co-ed. After short introductory speeches by Oswald Worthmann and George Brandt, the discussion was opened to a lively discussion followed.

FRIDAY, Nov. 14

Eldon Rieger was in charge of matinees services. Emma Klein sang a vocal solo, "I Walked Today Where Jesus Walked".

MONDAY, Nov. 17

Rev. Thomas J. Paul, Minn., spoke on the topic "Your Crown". He asked these two questions: What is your crown? Are you doing all you can do for your God? "The earthly crowns are fading fast, but so long as our crown is a crown of love and we hold fast to it, we need have no fear."

TUESDAY, Nov. 18

The second in a series of religious movies was shown during this convocation. The title was, "The Way of Salvation".

WEDNESDAY, Nov. 19

Rev. C. R. Decker of Sterling, Neb., addressed the students on the problems of being happy and getting along with other people. He pointed out, "A Christian's life need not be restricted, but it does require that we make an accounting to our will at all times. His solution to the problem was, "When in doubt about certain actions, ask yourself, 'If you can take Christ with you, is it right?'"

Thursday, Nov. 20

Mary Seest was in charge of this student convocation in a discussion of men at Wartburg, and what the students can do for them. After talks by Lorraine Thibault and Virginia Wagner, the meeting was turned over to a general discussion by the students.

FRIDAY, Nov. 21

Karl Landrebe conducted the weekly matins services. Darlene Brandt sang a soprano solo, "How Lovely Are Thy Dwellings".

HOBBY DEMONSTRATION WILL BE THIS EVENING

Stenciling Christmas cards will be the theme of the second hobby exhibition to be held Saturday evening, Nov. 22, in the north room of Wartburg.

Each person will be permitted to try his hand at making a stencil. Two cents per stencil will be charged to cover the cost of materials.

This experience should be profitable for anyone who is interested in making original and cheap Christmas cards.

The Home Fronts of Texas College University team have traveled nearly 5,000 miles in playing six of their ten games away from home this season.

LUTHERANS LOSE CHURCH LEADER

Dr. John Becker, Teacher and Pastor Passes Away; Rites Held Tues., Nov. 11.

Pastor Johannes Becker, D. D., who at 77 years of age had been serving the church in Germany as a religious refugee and who devoted his adult years to the service of the Lutheran church, died at his home after a brief illness Saturday morning. His funeral at the Kaiser Chapel and the Pauline Chapel Tuesday afternoon was a expression of the esteem in which that church held him for it brought together a gathering of religious leaders and laymen, two of whom were the two Becker sons who are now Lutheran pastors.

Pastor R. C. Schlueter was in charge of the funeral service. Rev.

A. E. Grotzschel of Sheldon preached the sermon. Dr. M. Rev. of Duquane read the obituary. Dr. J. Bedensteck of Dubuque conducted the service. Dr. H. Kappel and Rev. E. H. Stieles of Montezuma conducted the service at the grave in St. Paul's cemetery. Pallbearers were Rev. C. W. Wulff of Summerfield, A. H. Kappel of Tipton, Rev. Leon Gehret of Waterloo, Dr. J. Brinck of Waverly and Rev.

Born Jan. 13, 1861 in Dresbach, in the province of Hesse, Germany, Pastor Becker attended school there until he came to America in 1879, entering Wartburg Seminary at Menasha. He graduated from there in 1881 and subsequently served as missionary in China for about three years, then in parishes at Welcome, Minn., Johnson Creek, Wis., Emerson, Iowa, and Rock Creek, Idaho, where he died in 1906.

While serving as pastor in Mitchell he was married to Laura Schmidt who is numbered among his survivors.

In 1909 Pastor Becker was called to Wartburg college in Waverly and from that time until his retirement in 1930, he served as director of the theological department. His students during these years were German, Latin, Greek and religion.

Leading editor of the Iowa

Scouts was for years editor of two German publications: Jugendblatt and Die Missionsstunde. He served on many church committees, notably the Wartburg committee and as secretary of the Wisconsin and Iowa districts of the Lutheran church. He was much interested in the Indian especially in New Guinea. He was the author of many books and pamphlets including one on the Holy Communion and thirteen on the growth of the church. One recognition of this service came in 1936 when Wartburg Seminary, Dubuque, conferred upon him the degree of Doctor of Divinity.

After his retirement he and Mrs. Becker continued to make their home here with their son, Rev. Dr. Fred Becker. In addition to this son he was also preceded by another son and three daughters.

Rev. John Becker, a teacher and pastor, died Saturday morning. His funeral was held at the Kaiser Chapel and the Pauline Chapel Tuesday afternoon.

PHYLIS PROPP, REV. E. KNITT WED IN CALIF.

The Wartburg college romance of a Waverly girl and a pretheological student from Clintonville, Wis., was culminated in San Bernardino, Calif., and Rev. Erwin Knitt of Bellflower, Calif., officiated. The bride is the daughter of the First English Lutheran church, San Bernardino, by the pastor, Rev. H. Paul Romes, assisted by Rev. Dr. W. H. Schaefer, pastor of the First German church of San Bernardino. The bride's father was a banker with white chrysanthemums and palms and was dressed in a tuxedo. The bride was dressed in a tall candleabra, both were lighted by the bride's brother Richard.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white gown of wavy satin with sweethearts neckline, long pointed sleeves and bouffant skirt which ended in a short train. Her bouquet was of roses and carnations. She carried a cascade bouquet of gardenias.

Her roommate at school, Virginia Wheeler, was her maid of honor wearing a colonial dress of pale rose manteo and carrying a bouquet of delphinium, pink roses and white sweetpeas. The groom was attended by his brother Raymond while ushers were Harry Vanderveldt of Greenfield, Wyo., and Fred Theodore Daniels of Burbank.

After the ceremony the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Knitt, from Waverly, Iowa, drove to California four years ago, opened their home for the wedding reception. The triple tiered cake, decorated with white orange blossoms, was cut by the bride and groom and a second tiered cake was cut by his parents, who were that day celebrating their thirty-first wedding anniversary.

Recently following the completion of their tour, the Knitts left on a week's wedding trip through the southern states. They are going away before the beginning of December, having no definite place to go. On their return they will be at home at 847 East Walnut Ave., Bellflower. She graduated from the

SWENSEN UPHOLDS CHEMICAL TESTS FOR INTOXICATION

Writes Argument for Continuing Blood Analysis.

Editor's Note: Several weeks ago on November 14, the chief of police of the city of Waverly, Iowa, ordered the police department to abandon the testing of blood tests of persons arrested for drunken driving. Prof. C. F. Swensen, head of the medical department here at Wartburg and member of the committee on tests for intoxication of the N.Y.C. Safety Council was asked to defend the council's stand against the use of blood tests. His letter follows:

By A. W. Swensen

According to an INS news item of Nov. 14, 1941, the chief of police of the city of Waverly, Iowa, in the state of Iowa has ordered the police department under his jurisdiction to abandon the taking of blood specimens of persons accused of driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor. According to this item, specimens were taken from persons who were drunk that they had to be held up showed insufficient alcohol content to submit to a "jury." This police department apparently abandoned blood tests in favor of the very crude equilibrium tests.

The use of the 63 chemical substances which those 63 different substances or more of those of intoxication, it is well-nigh impossible to diagnose the exact amount of physical and chemical abnormalities alone. In 1940, in Bellevue hospital, New York City, of all the cases that were treated under the heading of intoxication by a factor of medicine 10 per cent were found to not be intoxicated. Some of those who were in a condition to be tested ingested no intoxicating liquor.

Mistaken Diagnosis.

Edgar Hoover, head of the federal bureau of investigation, in a communication to the writer cited an instance of a young man who was pronounced intoxicated by a police officer and a physician. He was accordingly incarcerated in a city jail where he died two hours later. An autopsy indicated that he was suffering from a fractured skull and that he was definitely not intoxicated. A chemist found that a blood specimen would have saved his family from the immensity of his dying in a jail, and would have assured him of medical attention. Like situations can be found in many other cities of individuals being arrested for intoxication for other causes which are responsible for their physical abnormalities.

Official Standards.

The American Medical Association and the National Safety Council, after a thorough study, have adopted the following findings:

1. Blood alcohol readings of 50 milligram per cent indicate for all individuals sobriety. (55 milligram per cent means 50 milligrams of alcohol in 100 cubic centimeters of blood).

2. Between 50 milligram per cent and 150 milligram per cent, an individual may or may not be intoxicated. This large span takes care of the physical, mental and tolerance differences in all individuals. It can be charged in the event a qualified person, after a critical analysis, finds a person intoxicated.

All 150 milligram per cent and beyond all are under the influence of intoxicating liquor regardless of tolerance and previous experience. The American Medical Association and the National Safety Council recognize that they have been most backward in setting the figure at such a low level. Both organizations realize that the figure is too high. In the Scandinavian countries the limit is 50. Undisputed facts prove that the majority of manslaughter cases and these cases involving the death of a drinking driver occur at 120 milligram per cent.

Used in Europe.

These findings have been incorporated in laws in the states of Indiana, Michigan, New Jersey and Oregon. The chemical identification of intoxication has been approved and used by (a) Europe (b) Canada (c) Australia (d) New Zealand (e) South Africa (f) Argentina (g) Chile (h) Mexico (i) Brazil (j) Venezuela (k) Peru (l) Uruguay (m) Chile (n) Argentina (o) The National Security Council (d) Federal Bureau of Investigation (e) The National Commission on Intoxication and Alcoholism present in the United States. 32 states are using it very successfully.

Cleveland, O., is an outstanding example of the success of the adoption of the blood tests in Cleveland, the conviction rate of drinking drivers was 35 percent. The adoption of the blood tests lessened the conviction rate to 97.34 per cent.

The writer has had several outstanding examples to prove the effectiveness of the committee and law enforcement. In one instance after a person, who had been drinking, rolled his car over and was found unconscious and deeply drunk by a doctor of medicine and two police officers. The blood alcohol analyses which the police checked showed that he was definitely not intoxicated. This finding precipitated further medical examination which in turn revealed a fractured skull.

Vocal Evidence Fact.

Any experienced police officer or doctor of medicine knows that show plays a very important role in determining whether or not a person is intoxicated. The shock of killing a person on a public highway has in the writer's opinion caused many deeply intoxicated persons to a temporary state of being cold sober. Picture a police officer relying solely upon the results of one breath test or equilibrium test of a driver involved in a crash causing the death of one or more individuals. The police officer, after doing a minimum test on the witness stand contending that an individual was intoxicated in a hasty conclusion case will be in the defense counsel's largely versed in medico-legal literature.

The American Medical Association and the National Safety Council are interested in the problem of intoxication purely from an unbiased, scientific standpoint and are as much interested in the detection of the醉者 as in the detection in the prosecution by the state.

Confidence Expressed.

If blood analyses are carried out by a competent analysts and not by imitators, the writer is convinced that no individual who is suspected as to his ability to support himself will be found to be not intoxicated.

In view of the wide and varied interests of both the medical and specimen analysts have had in supporting law enforcement, it is strange that a police officer should be so inclined as to accept all of law enforcement without a complete and thoroughly study of the problem.

Nearly 2,500 students took correspondence courses offered last year by the University of Texas.

Attends Meeting on Social Relations

Dean Alvin E. Fritz traveled to Minneapolis last week to attend a meeting of the Committee on Social Relations of the American Lutheran Conference which met November 11 and 12.

Youth Movements in the United States were the topic which Dean Fritz is working and in connection with this subject "Training of Youth for Christian Social Responsibility."

Other papers presented and discussed concern the church and state relationship, what the church can do to aid and comfort the victim of the Hitler and the employee, the church and community movements, the church and its publications, problems of the rural church, and the church and the liquor problem.

SENIORS

Arnold Becker and Harold Becker Ladies and Gentlemen, we proudly present for this edition, the biographies of the well known "Becker Boys". If you ever want to talk with the life of a party or who is the life of Waverly, everyone on the campus would exclaim "The Becker Boys."

Wherever you hear a loud noise of many voices shouting at once, an uproar, a tumult, a confusion, a rumble, or a hub bub, deep in the heart of the people, there will find the Becker boys. They can tell you anything you want to know in the line of choice news in the world. They can tell you also how many players Benny Goodman has in his orchestra and the name of the girl who is singing with him. Glenn Miller and his orchestra. Glenn Miller and his wife.

The "Becker Boys" will be glad to give a demonstration on cracking bull whips to anyone interested in such subjects.

They are majoring in history and are members of the "W" club. At present they have a 2-A rating with the W.C.A. in the 10th grade.

Both Arnold and Harold plan to become ministers and Arnold has fond hopes of entering Columbia University in the fall.

They'll put Wisconsin against any other state in the union and the Wisconsin football team—at least they'll get any other mid-west football team—just pick you odds too.

"We" Becker Boys always preferred dancing, reading, and games to all other types. They have always resided in the Ambassador and would think of residing in any other place on the campus.

If you have any extra clothes, bring them to the Becker Brothers and they'll get them cleaned at the washers cleaners at a very minimum charge (free plug.)

IN RETROSPECT

The Knight football squad of 1941 has been the most successful team in Wartburg's short existence at Waverly. That is a statement adequately substantiated by history. This year the Knights scored 71 points to the opponents' 85. (That 71 looks gigantic when we consider that from 1937-40 inclusive Wartburg was credited with 80 points for an average of 20 points per season.) Furthermore, Wartburg failed to score in only one game, lost two contests by 7-6 scores, and lost another through an official's error.

We may also add that at the beginning of the season the Knights' chimes were doled as practically zero, and that, consequently, Coach Van Dyke must have worked wonders with a squad, two-thirds of whose members had little or no ball experience before enrolling at Wartburg. The spirit of the student body was splendid, and few fans were privy to see real football (in home games Wartburg won over Wisconsin Mines 25-6, over Buena Vista 7-0, and lost to Upper Iowa 7-6), and everybody in general must have had a wonderful time.

INDIVIDUAL SCORING

Freshman Bud Kirkland gained first place in Wartburg's scoring column for the season. He crossed the enemy goal four times and converted three times for a total of 27 points.

In second place is Harold Obenauer with 18 counters, in third, Captain Rudy Langholz with 14, and coming in fourth are Don Herron and Richard Landwehr with six each.

CONFERENCE FACTS

Luther won the Iowa conference championship last Saturday with a victory over Upper Iowa. The standings of the teams are as follows:

Luther	4½	1½	.750	86	39
Dubuque U.	6½	1½	.833	116	28

Games yet to be played: Nov. 23, Loras at St. Ambrose; Nov. 27, Wesleyan at Parsons.

RUDY LANGHOLZ

Local observers are practically unanimous in the opinion that Rudy Langholz established a reputation this fall as an athlete and captain to rank with the best. How Rudy can honestly be overlooked when the time for the selection of an all-conference football team rolls around we can't imagine.

Extra work is keeping Rudy from giving his services to the basketball team this year.

Co-educational P. T. Work Advocated After Mixed Game

Furious Battle Was Waged; Volleyball Comes Out 2nd Best

Running a close second to the Great Eastern in the first mixed game was the volleyball team, which came as never before.

It was the night of Nov. 15, and what a night it was! The windows rattled, the walls shivered, and it seemed as though the sky would come down to meet the floor at any moment. The rivalry was terrific and the tension great.

The only trouble was that somehow or other "Doc" Schaefer and Helena Begalske happened to get on different teams. And everyone's heart went to Doc when he first broke his neck to get out of a point, thus giving Helena's team a point. At one such chivalry!

But the boys were in just as much trouble in getting Benny to concentrate. He seemed to think that he was playing basketball and needed encouragement and repetition led by Doc Schaefer. They both looked happy though.

All agreed that volleyball night was indeed a memorable night.

After the game, however, the boys began to make all gym classes co-educational. No wonder some of the seniors and juniors were dressed in old gym suits the next day. They had to get off the ground in the first place amazes me.

But the prize costume of the evening went to Tufty Obenauer. What he had on was nothing but a mystery. It was either a burlap bag with sleeves or a nightgown. Someone said he looked like a Greek god, but if Tufty had any resemblance to Apollo, then it is easy to see why the Greeks worshiped Christianity in such a hurry.

The first person that Doc Heron picked for his team was Phyllis. But even Phyllis was not the best through her courage and repetition led by Doc Schaefer. They both looked happy though.
